

Meldrum Ammenities Improvement Group (MAIG) February 24

Tony Denison will be steeling the show this month with his report to the CC on the Beautiful Scotland entry. So nothing to add on that.

In the pollytunnell all the saved begonia tubers have been transplanted to grow on again this year. A trail of growing plants from seed, using newly built and purchased hot beds, is undrway. For this year such plants will be used to supplement as oposed to replace the bought in plugs.

Further used compost need to be removed, believe to the community garden, prior to arrival of new compost shortly.
